

m.o.d.
emotion in form

wiesner hager

m.o.d. inspires emotion: a chair displaying sensitivity in both colour and form. Two elements characterise the organic flow in the design of m.o.d. The frame: curved, tapered, tubular steel. The shell: a light but robust blow moulded shell made from polypropylene. The ergonomic shape of the shell follows the flowing outline of the frame. Innovative detail: the row-linking is integrated into the shell and is only visible when folded out for use.

Linkable, stackable, and weighing in at a mere 6 kilograms: m.o.d. is a multi-functional chair. In its various forms, whether in polypropylene or fully upholstered, m.o.d. is just as at home in breakout areas and canteens, as it is in meeting, conference, seminar and office areas.

Design: Martin Ballendat.

m.o.d.

Space efficient: up to eight chairs, with and without armrests, can be stacked on top of one another.

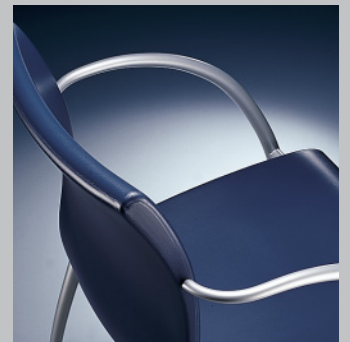

Organic Design: the flowing outline of the frame follows through into the shell.

Innovative linking: the row-linking is integrated in the shell and is folded out for use.

Elegant connection: armrest and shell are nearly connected, leaving out any disturbing elements.
